Role Model

My Role Model is Dr. Anuj Pachhel, he is currently completing his MBBS Graduate in GMC Nagpur (Definition). (The reason why I keep him as a role model for me is the way he leads life in the proper way. When i was student of my college at first year, while i prepare for my internal exam topics in youtube, i accidentally saw one of his youtube video. I just stop searching the topics for a while and i watched his video. The video I saw is “ The one week before my examination”, it is a vlog based video. While I started to watch I had no idea, but at some point I liked the way he presented the video, meanwhile how he prepared for his medical exam. I really admire his method of preparation. He first schedules all the topics which he needs to revise for his exam before one week. Every day he revised all the chapters of his medicine topic while he took practice MCQ of those topics. Not only these things make me to feel him as role model apart from this he used to spend time with his friends, his family , he not only focusing only on the studies but also he is a famous youtuber, he used to record vlogs during his busy schedule this shows that how he passionate about his work) (Reason or problem). (This gave me more motivation towards my life from that day onwards. I usually saw his videos and followed his studying methodology and applied it in my academic life. This really made me more effective in my college days. I completely changed the way I study. My teachers, HOD, and principle appreciate my method of managing the work) (Solution). (Meanwhile I scored good marks in all university exams. By his way of approaching multitasking working methods, I used to copy cats all the techniques and apply them in my life. This gives me more Self confidence and this result in final year i got the opportunity to to handle three projects including my projects at the same time i completed all my academic paper in 7th semester. And also i used to go on outings with my friends and enjoy my college life. I Was a college representative for 4 years. I cooked for myself and went to college for one year and studied. This happened only after seeing his vlogs. He explains all those things in his vlogs he explains not only how he studies but also he explains how to prioritize the things in life) (Benefits). (I subscribe and usually watch all his videos now he is one of famous youtube vlogger in medicine field,he gives his speech in TEDX and he talks about five pillars of happiness in life.In his five pillars of happiness he mentioned that he used to denote a one roof and ask how the roof stick against the pillar without fell down,and he answer because of the support of all the supporting side wall of below the roof. He compare with that in life perspective , if any one want to live life happily and effectively then it is necessary to determine the pillar of what are the essential this in life and focus on all things eventually then our life roof stood strong make us productive through our life. This makes me feel more enthusiastic about myself. I changed my behavior. I learned to speak English coherently as he speaks in his video.The core thing I learn from him and I am inspired about is how to live life effectively) (Conclusion).
